

IofC Books & Media

Recent Releases

Trustbuilding: An honest conversation on race, reconciliation, and responsibility $25.00

By Rob Corcoran

(2010, 312 pages, Hardcover, University of Virginia Press ISBN 978-0-8139-2875-3)

This is the compelling story of how Richmond, Virginia, a former slave market and capital of the Confederacy, has become a seedbed for interracial dialogue and trustbuilding. It is part historical narrative and part handbook. This model of dialogue and community change, developed by Hope in the Cities, has been adopted nationally and internationally. In his foreword, Virginia Governor Tim Kaine writes, "it has moved what looked like an immovable barricade... and has provided a map for the future." Trustbuilding includes case studies from several US cities, South Africa, France and the U.K.

No Enemy to Conquer - Forgiveness in an unforgiving world $15.00

By Michael Henderson

(2009, 198 pages, Pbk, Baylor University Press, Texas ISBN 978-1-60258-140-1)

Prominent Christian, Jewish and Muslim publications have stressed the timeliness of these stories about men and women of different faiths and cultures reaching out to those previously deemed 'enemies'. There are profound contributions from Archbishop Tutu, Chief Rabbi Lord Sacks, Benazir Bhutto and the Dalai Lama as well as scholarly input from different American universities. Donald Shriver, President Emeritus, Union Theological Seminary, writes, 'Need a strong dose of hope for the future of the human race? Read this book. Its stories are balm for those who struggle over the mystery of evil in human affairs and will make you stand in awe of the mystery of the good.'

The Worldwide Legacy of Frank Buchman $10.00

Compiled by Archie Mackenzie & David Young

(2008, 312 pages, Pbk, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland ISBN 2-88037-517-7)

In 1908 Buchman, an American Lutheran minister of Swiss descent who was the originator of Initiatives of Change, had a spiritual experience of release from bitterness in crucial relationships that altered the course of his life. This new book opens with Archie Mackenzie's answer to the young man who asked, "Why is Frank Buchman important?" - followed by 19 chapters that have been contributed by 33 authors. Compiled by David Young and Archie Mackenzie, it gives a broad picture of how Buchman's message and meaning has been borne forward across the world.

Biographies and Memoirs

Father of the House

$30.00

The Memoirs of Kim E. Beazley

(2009, 335 pages, Pbk, Freemantle Press, Australia ISBN 3-24-29-4079-2)

Kim E Beazley was Australia's Minister for Education 1972-75 and was responsible for some of the most enduring reforms of the Whitlam Labor Government. Mike Steketee in The Australian, January 1 2009 entitled 'Principle not Power' mentions the suspicion with which Beazley's Labor colleagues viewed his commitment to Moral Re-Armament (now Initiatives of Change). 'The Australian tradition is to keep religion and politics apart but for Beazley they were inseparable. "If you do not accept the importance of conscience, you accept only the importance of power," he once said.' Steketee concludes that 'his story overall is one that restores faith in politics.'

Faith in Diplomacy

$10.00

By Archie Mackenzie

(2002, 208 pages, Pbk, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland ISBN 1-85239-030-1)

Ambassador Archie Mackenzie has seen diplomatic service over 32 years in Burma, Cyprus, France, Thailand, Tunisia, the United States and Yugoslavia. Weaving through his narrative are insider stories from war-time Washington with Isaiah Berlin; Tito's Yugoslavia and beyond; the Brandt Commission; and the United Nations from its very start at Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco. Mackenzie probes the moral issues behind such familiar diplomatic concepts as the nation-state, multilateralism, and preventive diplomacy.

"In this well-written book containing accounts of many delightful episodes in his diplomatic life, Archie Mackenzie succeeds in combining his working principles with his deeply held beliefs."

Edward Heath, KG, British Prime Minister from 1970-74

A Great Aim in Life

$10.00

By Gordon Wise

(2006, 315 pages, Pbk, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland ISBN 2-8803-7513-4)

Gordon Wise was born the son of an agriculturalist in tropical North Queensland, Australia. His father went on to become Premier of Western Australia, but Gordon's own life path proved to have its own adventures, including service in World War II as an RAAF pilot in Coastal Command over European waters. This story tells of traveling on five continents, meeting union leaders, employers, prime ministers, presidents, journalists and religious leaders, and often bringing together people who would otherwise never have met. It tells of staying with a Buddhist Abbot in his Thai monastery and later introducing him to the Pope; of flying in the Berlin Airlift and over the jungles of Vietnam and Laos; and of two personal interviews with Churchill. It is about leadership, responsibility and humility.

No Longer Down Under: Australians Creating Change

$10.00

By Mike Brown

(2002, 300 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, Australia ISBN 0-9592622-3-7)

Australian Mike Brown writes about ordinary people whose compassion and commitment played "some part in turning the world right side up here in 'down under' Australia."

Those profiled in the book include Ray Whitrod, Queensland's Police Commissioner, who fought courageously to expose corruption; and Max Gale, a dairy farmer who looked beyond his own local perspective to help India improve their milk production. As Dean Brown, Mike's brother and the former Premier of South Australia, commented, "It goes from local and very personal to the global and international."

An American in the Middle East

$10.00

By Harry Almond

(2009, 179 page, Pbk, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland ISBN 978-2-88037-521-8)

This is a story that spans a half-century of tumultuous relationships between America and the Middle East as seen through the eyes of an American who had extraordinary opportunities to meet a wide range of personalities in the Arab and Muslim world. This book details for the first time several pioneering developments in IofC's interfaith diplomacy and provides timely reading for anyone wishing to better understand some of the crucial issues of today.

'We all need insights on how to build trust between the Western and Muslim worlds and Harry Almond's book is important in this regard. It is the product, not of a few official postings to the Middle East, but of a life dedicated to the peoples of that area.... His approach to problems was always constructive and his motivation unselfish. If common cause is to be found among differing faiths and cultures, it will be by learning from his experience'. A.R.K. Mackenzie, former British Ambassador

Matched Pair – the Elys of Embassy Row

$10.00

By Jarvis Harriman

(1999, 254 pages, Pbk, Pooh Stix Press. Tucson, AZ ISBN 0-9634323-1-1)

This remarkable biography brings to life not only two intriguing individuals, but also the era in which they lived—the American century, when Americans were called on to provide the means and the statesmanship to win a war and then a peace.

Born to privilege, Jack and Connie Ely chose to exchange ease and comfort for an exhilarating adventure as new-world pioneers. Connie's father was a friend and partner of the Rockefellers, while Jack's was a physician whose patients included the family of Franklin Roosevelt. Yet the Elys modeled a life of generosity and service that reached out to rich and poor, black and white, magnate and coal miner. From their base on Washington's Embassy Row, the Elys took their convictions across the world: to the desolate German Ruhr at the close of World War II, the African veldt, the Indian subcontinent, and, perhaps most significantly, to the corridors of power in Washington.

Uncommon Friends

$10.00

By James Newton

(1987, 368 pages, Pbk, Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers, Inc. ISBN 0-15-692620-2)

Foreword by Anne Morrow Lindbergh Thomas Edison, Henry Ford, Harvey Firestone, Alexis Carrell, and Charles Lindbergh were twentieth-century giants whom few people knew personally. In Uncommon Friends, James Newton recounts a lifetime of friendship with all of them—a friendship that began the day he met Mina Edison, Thomas Edison's wife. Only twenty years old and head of development of Edison Park in Fort Myers, Florida, Newton endeared himself to the Edisons—and a chain of acquaintances began. Based on Newton's diaries, recollections and extensive correspondence, Uncommon Friends is a rich, lively, resonant memoir—the perfect tribute to the very human aspects of five uncommon heroes.

Never to Lose My Vision - The Story of Bill Jaeger

$10.00

By Clara Jaeger

(1995 187 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books. London, England ISBN 1-85239-022-0)

From an early age Bill Jaeger had a passion for social justice. This was fired by his upbringing in the hard industrial environment of Stockport, England, and his meeting with MRA (now Initiatives of Change) which led him to become friend and confidant to leaders in labor and politics in many lands. Jaeger's skills as a teambuilder made possible an extraordinary outreach, and his understanding of individuals put him at home in any company: young students, Ruhr communists, African-American pioneers, industrialists, and leaders in Russia and China. His course was not without troubles and opposition. Yet as he says, "I have learned never to lose my vision"—a vision of a world where men and women of all races and classes can work together to fulfill need and end injustice.

Books by Rajmohan Gandhi

The Good Boatman – A Portrait of Gandhi

$15.00

By Rajmohan Gandhi

(1995, 495 pages, Hardcover, Viking by Penguin Books India ISBN 0-670-86822-1)

In this book, Rajmohan Gandhi, a grandson of the Mahatma and an acclaimed biographer and scholar, attempts to understand one of the twentieth century's greatest leaders. This he does by examining in detail dominant and varied themes of Gandhi's life—his unsuccessful bid to keep India united; his attitude on caste and untouchability; his relationship with those whose empire he challenged; his controversial experiments with chastity; his God, truth and nonviolence; and his selection of heirs to lead a new-born nation.

"I must have read this book with as much eagerness and excitement as any gripping novel. It is a valuable source book and guide. In brief, it is compulsory reading for everyone interested in contemporary India. I recommend it wholeheartedly to the reading public." Indian Review of Books

Eight Lives: A Study of the Hindu-Muslim Encounter

$10.00

By Rajmohan Gandhi

(1986, 359 pages, Pbk, State University of New York Press. Albany, NY ISBN 0-88706-197-4)

This book was written by a Hindu, the grandson of Mohandas K. Gandhi. By writing on eight Muslims and their influence on India in the twentieth century, Gandhi's hopes to reduce the gulf between Hindus and Muslims. Focusing on figures viewed as heroes by subcontinent Muslims, he shows that they can be admired by Hindus as well - that they need not be frozen in Hindu minds as foes. Here is a fascinating account of twentieth century India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh told through biographical sketches of eight men: Sayyid Ahmed Khan (1817-1898), Fazlul Huq (1873-1962), Muhammad Ali Jinnah (1876-1948), Muhammad Iqbal (1876-1938), Muhammad Ali (1878-1931), Abul Kalam Azad (1888-1958), Liaquat Ali Khan (1895-1951), and Zakir Husain (1897-1969).

Books by Michael Henderson

Forgiveness – Breaking the Chain of Hate

$7.50

By Michael Henderson

(1999, 176 pages, Pbk, Bookpartners, Inc. Newberg, OR ISBN 1-581-51050-0)

How could survivors of the Burma Road, the Siberian Gulag, or Nazi atrocities forgive those who harmed them? How can representatives of entire peoples—Australian Aborigines, Africa-Americans, black South Africans—be reconciled with whites who exploited them? And how can the offenders find the grace to apologize? Michael Henderson writes about a dozen of remarkable people of many nations and faiths who have been able to break the chain of hate and the hold of history.

All Her Paths Are Peace: Women Pioneers in Peacemaking

$10.00

By Michael Henderson

(1994, 172 pages, Pbk, Kumarian Press Inc. West Hartford, CT ISBN 1-56549-034-7)

Henderson portrays sixteen maverick women whose daring acts have made a difference. From Japan to Brazil, from Northern Ireland to the United States, he relates their gripping stories and depicts the practical yet often risky steps each woman took to resolve the conflict facing her and her nation.

"What Michael Henderson so powerfully and eloquently teaches us is that we all have the ability to play the roles of peacemaker and reconciler. The women he shows are not at first glance extraordinary people, they are ordinary women who rise to meet extraordinary challenges."

Naomi Tutu Lecturer, University of Connecticut; daughter of Archbishop Desmond Tutu.

Social and Community Change

Bread, Bricks and Belief: Communities in Charge of Their Future $10.00

By Mary Lean

(1995, 182 pages, Pbk, Kumarian Press. West Hartford, CT ISBN 1-56549-046-0)

Readers enter poor cities and villages to meet Buddhist, Christian, Hindu, Muslim, and Sikh leaders who, with their driving spirit, seed the community with their energy and vision. Readers see how these efforts take root, steadily changing the cultural and economic life of these once despondent and declining communities.

“I recommend this book to anyone who contemplates helping in community development.”

Sir Howard Cooke Governor General of Jamaica

Connecting Communities $5.00

By Rob Corcoran and Karen E. Greisdorf

(2001, 127 pages, spiral bound)

This time-tested handbook, based on the experience of Hope in the Cities, contains stories and resources related to personal and community change. It is an invaluable resource for individuals and groups seeking to implement change. Key lessons and insights from the field reveal how honest conversation, personal responsibility and acts of reconciliation can provide a basis for healing divisions of race, class and politics.

Dialogue for Difficult Subjects $5.00

By Lisa Schirch & David Campt

(2007, 82 pages, Pbk, Good Books ISBN 978-1-56148-551-2)

Authors Schirch and Campt present a transforming and freshly hopeful approach to handling tension-filled topics using principles of dialogue. For conversations around the table, in the boardroom, within community or across the globe, “Dialogue allows people in conflict to listen to each other, affirm their common ground, and explore their differences in a safe environment.”

Trust and Integrity in the Global Economy $10.00

By Michael Smith

(2007, 120 pages, Pbk, ISBN 978-2-88037-516-4)

‘What are the great issues that confront the generation growing up in the foothills of the 21st century? Some of today’s generation will determine to change things. They will scale the Himalayan heights to create an alternative future. What does it mean to have a calling-to give one’s life for a great cause? The stories in this book, taken largely from the entrepreneurial field, serve as illustrations of such a determination to make a difference, to change the world... I wanted to present the stories in this book in the hope that they would be a source of inspiration to others.

Beyond the Bottom Line $5.00

By Michael Smith

(2001, 62 pages, Pbk, For A Change and The Industrial Pioneer, UK ISBN 1-85239 027-1)

The stories in this book tell of business people’s concern for the environment, unemployment, industrial partnership, poverty and social justice. They show that, in an era of globalization, the individual can be a powerful agent for positive social change. Smith argues that beyond the bottom line lie other criteria—the social, the ethical and the environmental—which companies of any size ignore at their peril.

Religion and Diplomacy

Holy War, Holy Peace: How Religion Can Bring Peace to the Middle East $20.00 By Marc Gopin

(2002, 288 pages, Hardcover, Oxford University Press ISBN 01-951-46506)

The complete neglect of deeper cultural and religious systems in the Middle East peace process is now apparent, as is the role that this neglect has played in the failure of the process. Building on his earlier book, Between Eden and Armageddon, Gopin provides a detailed blueprint of how the religious traditions in question can become a principal asset in the search for peace and justice. He demonstrates how religious people can be the critical link in peacemaking and how the incorporation of their values and symbols can unleash a new dynamic that directly addresses basic issues of ethics, justice, and peace.

“For twenty years Marc Gopin has stood in the gap between Israelis and Palestinians... Diplomats, politicians, and educators who yearn for peace among the ‘Abrahamic peoples’ should read this book. It will show them how the Abrahamic religions can become a taproot of that peace.” Donald W. Shriver, Jr., author of An Ethic for Enemies

Religion, The Missing Dimension of Statecraft $20.00 Edited by Douglas Johnston and Cynthia Sampson

(1994, 350 pages, Hardcover, Center for Strategic and International Studies. Oxford University Press, New York, NY ISBN 0-19-508734-8)

Religion plays a crucial role in many international conflicts, yet, for the most part, diplomacy either ignores or misunderstands the role. This unified collection of case studies and theoretical pieces attempts to restore this missing dimension to its rightful place in the conduct of international diplomacy. It offers the first systematic account of modern cases in which religion or spiritual factors have played a part in preventing or resolving conflict and achieving nonviolent change. A distinguished roster of scholars provides examples from Europe, Central America, Asia, and Africa. Additional essays bring out the implications of these case studies for foreign policy and for the religious communities.

“Holds lessons not only for government officials but also for religious leaders willing to take initiatives for peace.” NY Times

Healing Streams $10.00 By Sushobha Barve

(2003, 232 pages, Pbk, Penguin Books India ISBN 0-14-302962-2)

On a train journey in 1984, Sushobha Barve watched in horror as two of her co-passengers were beaten up, set afire and left to die in the aftermath of Indira Gandhi’s assassination. The nightmare of that journey led her to find ways of preventing such conflagrations and, where violence had already occurred, working towards alleviating the distress and sense of hopelessness that such events leave in their wake. It was an exploration that took her to Bhagalpur in 1989, Mumbai in 1992 and Ahmedabad in 2002, where some of the worst riots in post-Partition India had occurred. Thrown into the middle of pitched battles and desperate attempts to save lives, she discovered a world of simmering bitterness and hatred, of lives reduced to utter despair by a few days of madness. She also discovered that her self-appointed task of preventing and alleviating distress required enormous fortitude and courage. This account of her work with riot victims is an engrossing and topical book that addresses the reality that escapes the newspaper headlines, the suffering that continues long after the events themselves have dimmed from our memory. It is heartbreaking work but the rewards, for her as for the reader who follows her on this journey, are dazzling.

The History and Life of Initiatives of Change

On the Tail of a Comet: The Life of Frank Buchman, By Garth Lean

$15.00

(1988, 590 pages Pbk, Helmers & Howard, Colorado ISBN 0-93944307-4)

The authoritative story of Frank Buchman, initiator of Initiatives of Change.

Buchman's story starts with a small-town American who sets out "to remake the world" and in the attempt affected the moral and spiritual condition of thousands of people at every level of society throughout the world. From war-torn Europe to civil war in China, from the rise of black nationalist independence movements in Africa to the civil rights hotbed in the U.S, in the lives of great leaders such as Mahatma Gandhi, Konrad Adenauer, and Harry Truman – Buchman's remarkable influence kept turning up.

"Buchman was one of the most charismatic and influential leaders in the Christian world during the twentieth century. Until Garth Lean's biography was written, the story of Frank Buchman had never been fully told..." James I. McCord Templeton Prize Winner and Chairman of Princeton's Center of Theological Inquiry

Good God, It Works! An experiment in faith By Garth Lean

$5.00

(1974, 216 pages, Pbk, Blandford Press, Dorset, England ISBN 0 7137 0722 4)

"I have been making an experiment..." said Garth Lean to a friend as he walked into his Oxford college one day in 1932. That was the beginning of his journey into faith, an adventure which continued for the rest of his life.

"You damned fool!" shouted the friend, and through the years some scoffed while others followed Lean's experiment with surprising results. In this book we meet a fascinating range of characters - writers, unemployed, students and politicians - many of them closely involved in the ideological struggle that has raged before, during and since World War II.

Did we Get it Right, Love? By Chris Evans

$10.00

(2009, 96 pages, Pbk, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland ISBN 978-2-88037-518-8)

Chris Evans, who comes from Britain, has written a short but highly readable book called "Did we get it right, Love?" Chris has served with Initiatives of Change for 40 years in many capacities, most recently as a member of its International Council. He was recently appointed Chair of Trustees of Initiatives of Change UK. The book is a frank, personal and faith-filled evaluation of a work and calling still in progress. Evans' story takes him from his home in Whitbourne, Herefordshire, on the road with a musical show, into the factories of the West Midlands, to India, Switzerland, Siberia and back to Whitbourne. The book is illustrated with 19 of his poems, which reveal the depth of his own faith as an Anglican. The book takes its title from the first line of one of his poems. One bookshop owner has described the book as 'very challenging, courageous and humble all at the same time.'

Streams By Mark O. Gouldseth

$10.00

(1982, 180 pages, Pbk ISBN 0-911103-00-7)

This book traces the wellsprings of Frank Buchman's life's work and discovers the people who may have passed on to him at least part of the floodtide of faith and originality which he possessed. Two streams converged. One lead back to a man named D. L. Moody, the other to an American of still earlier generation, Charles Finney. This story is the flow of those streams.

Listening and Quiet Time

Hope for Today: A Selection of Daily Readings

$10.00

Compiled by Peter Marsh and Hugh Elliott

(1995, 282 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, London, England ISBN 1-85239-021-2)

No one else in the world can do the work designed for you, say the authors of this book of daily readings. They have chosen a remarkable range of sources—from Bishop Polycarp in the first century AD to Bonhoeffer in our own—to illumine and inspire us.

Rediscovering Freedom

$5.00

By John Lester and Pierre Spoerri

(1992, 157 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, London, England ISBN 1-85239-016-6)

This book takes us on a journey of discovery. It is set against the emergence of political freedom in Eastern Europe and the search for inner freedom in the West. The authors have traveled widely. They have seen color, humor and inner liberty in unexpected places, even amongst those who have suffered under the greyness of totalitarian regimes. If true liberty is something we want, the search for it will have to be at a deep level. Does our freedom allow us the freedom to dream? Are we free from materialism and fear? Are we able to take on the most exacting freedom of all, the freedom to care? This freedom would mean a freedom to serve, to make a better world for our children to live in; to restore relationships; to tackle the bitter legacies in the world; to discover, invent, and create.

The Morning Quiet Time

$5.00

By Jack Winslow

(2005, 62 pages, Pbk, Published by John Faber ISBN 1-85239-035-2)

Many people hr for a closer walk with God yet the practicalities can seem elusive. How does one actually get in touch with God and deepen ones spiritual life? First published in 1938 under the title When I Awake, this book reflects Winslow's own experience of prayer and meditation. This book has much to offer to people who are just setting out on a life of faith.

Listen for a Change

$5.00

By Annejet Campbell

(1986, 106 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, London, England ISBN 1-85239-001-8)

More and more people are getting married everyday - and more and more marriages are breaking up. This book tells the stories of couples who have found reconciliation, some after months of separation or years of divorce. They have found that marriage can be exciting and satisfying and that instead of changing partners, it is possible for both partners to change.

Booklets

A serious Guide to Remaking the World

$2.00

By Jean Brown

(2007, 20 pages, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland)

A serious guide to remaking the world' is taken from Jean Brown's series of Reflections articles published in For A Change magazine. Jean looks at four steps to 'remaking the world': Starting with yourself; Engaging others; Creating answers; Giving hope to humanity. The booklet is designed and illustrated with cartoons by Nigel Heywood.

Frank Buchman's Legacy

$2.00

By Archie Mackenzie

(2008, 33 pages, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland)

The year 2008 marked the 100th anniversary of Frank Buchman's formative spiritual experience at Keswick in northern England. It is an appropriate moment to attempt a general re-appraisal of Buchman's life and work as seen from the perspective of the 21st century

The Sound of Silence

$2.00

By Michael Smith

(2004, 12 pages, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland)

How do we live in an age of information - and often information overload? How to gain a sense of priorities and a meaningful life? How do busy people find unhurried time for each other and a largess of leisure in the hurly-burly of life? Subtitled 'How to find Inspiration in an Age of Information', this 12-page booklet with cartoons is written for today's web-surfing generation.

A Journey of Discovery

$2.00

By Imam Dr. Abduljalil Sajid

(2007, 21 pages, Caux Books, Caux, Switzerland)

Was Rudyard Kipling right to say that East and West would always remain apart? Or is teamwork and understanding possible? With the headlines often full of violence and terrorism, Imam Dr Abduljalil Sajid's booklet A Journey of Discovery - a Muslim encounters Initiatives of Change is a convincing outline of such a future. Written originally for Muslim friends, this relevant, topical and readable account has something for all of us, Muslim and non-Muslim alike.

The Forgiveness We Need

$1.00

By Donald W. Shriver, Jr.

(2001, 20 pages, Initiatives of Change, Washington, DC)

This talk, part of a series entitled Sources of Reconciliation was first given at Mountain House in Caux, Switzerland, and was revised following the events of September 11, 2001, for the Inaugural Conference of the Center for Religion, Ethics and Culture at Holy Cross in Worcester, Massachusetts. Dr. Donald Shriver was President and Professor of Ethics at Union Theological Seminary in New York from 1975-1996. He is an active speaker on issues related to religion and international relations and is the author or editor of numerous books including Honest Patriots.

DVDs

The Imam and the Pastor

$25.00

(FLTfilms, 39 minutes)

From vengeance and killing to healing and forgiveness - a moving story of grass-roots peacebuilding that gives hope to humanity. This 39-minute documentary film brings to life the astonishing reconciliation between Imam Muhammad Ashafa and Pastor James Wuye, and their peacemaking initiatives which have ensued. They were leaders of militant groups involved in conflict between Muslims and Christians in Kaduna, northern Nigeria. Pastor Wuye lost a hand while Imam Ashafa's mentor and two close relatives were killed in the fighting. Now they are taking bold initiatives to promote co-operation and resolve conflicts. The film, narrated by Rageh Omaar, shows that it is possible for the perpetrators of inter-religious violence to become instigators of peace. It is a story of forgiveness and a case study of grass-roots initiatives to rebuild communities torn apart by conflict.

For the Love of Tomorrow - The Story of Irene Laure

$25.00

(MRA Productions, 44 minutes, Three language version)

Used around the world in classes on peace-building and reconciliation.

"I had a great hatred of the Germans...I suffered a lot from the way I hardened myself so I should never weep again. Even when I heard one of my sons had been tortured, I didn't weep. I longed for the total destruction of Germany...that it should no longer exist." Twice in Irene Laure's lifetime her country, France, was invaded by Germany. She was a nurse and fought in the Resistance, seeing women and children die. In 1945 she was elected to the Constituent Assembly and became Secretary General of the Socialist Women of France. In 1946 she had a transforming experience that redirected the course of her life. It caused her to ask forgiveness for her hatred and for the mistakes France had made.

Healing the Heart of America:

$15.00

A city walks through its past to build relationships for its future

(Cornerstone Productions, 1993, 27 minutes,)

In June 1993, citizens of Richmond, Virginia—the former capital of the Confederacy—initiated "Healing the Heart of America: an honest conversation on race, reconciliation and responsibility." Joined by people from 50 cities around the US and the world, they gave recognition to unacknowledged sites and events in the 370-year history of black-white relations. This is the story of their walk through Richmond history.

Older IofC Feature Films now available on DVD

Voice of the Hurricane

$25.00

(FLT Films, 75 minutes)

The film from the play by Peter Howard and Alan Thornhill.
With Muriel Smith, Phyllis Konstam and Reginald Owen.

Freedom

$25.00

(FTL Films, 95 minutes)

Filmed in Nigeria it was the first all African film made in Africa.

Ifoghale Amata, Elsie Chiwuzie, Matthew Elebesunu, Manasseh Moerane, Kezia Fashina and Lionel Jardine.

The Crowning Experience

$25.00

(FTL films, 100 minutes)

A musical based on the life of Mary McLeod Bethune, an American educator, starring mezzo-soprano Muriel Smith.

Bargain Books - Only $2.00 each!

Whose Side is God On?

By Peter Hannon

(81 pages, Pbk, The Universities Press, Belfast, Limited)

A compelling, courageous and well-written story. Peter Hannon brings to his writing a vast experience of working for healing and reconciliation, not only in Northern Ireland, but for 30 years in Nigeria and South Africa.

"I have been especially impressed, and indeed challenged, by his persistent attempts to build relationships across our various divides. His call for personal integrity as basic to social and political life is most relevant." Rev. Ray Davey Founder of the Corrymeela Community

Step Ahead of Disaster

by Eugene von Teuber with Basil Entwistle

(1993, 162 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books USA, Salem, OR ISBN 1-85239-510-9)

"Within the pages of this brief book, the world of the twentieth century turns upside down. A noble family of proud aristocrats is humbled, imprisoned, reduced to slave labor, and their once great and manicured properties are pushed into ruin... Turning the pages rapidly as suspense mounts, the reader will follow the efforts of the young aristocrat, married to a young Californian of striking beauty, to rescue their children (from the Nazis) and later his parents (from the Communists)... Its story is one of the classics of our era. Few books so well convey the feeling of a thousand year era collapsing." from the Foreword by Michael Novak American Enterprise Institute

The World at the Turning

By Charles Piquet and Michel Sentis

(1989, 115 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, London, England ISBN 0-901269-68-9)

"This book is written for everyone who is looking to the future. It holds out a hand to people of every belief who are ready to offer hope to mankind. We have learnt, in thirty years of working with Buddhists, Hindus, North American Indians, Africans of all beliefs, militant Communists, young revolutionaries, powerful capitalists, peasants, politicians, trade union leaders, that hope is not confined to any one temple. Modern communications have made the world into one large community. They require us to come out of our religious ghettos and find the vocabulary, the attitudes, the behavior which will allow all people to unite in a common spiritual battle. God has given us this world. It is up to us to be responsible for it." Charles Piquet and Michel Sentis.

The Revolutionary Path

Extracts from speeches by Frank Buchman

(1975, 71 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, London, England ISBN 0-901269-14-X)

Extracts from speeches 1932-1961. Frank Buchman believed in a revolution radical enough to remake men, A new social order, in his view, calls for changes in men themselves, freeing them from their hatreds, fears and greeds and giving them new motives. He expected everyone to be a remaker of the world. The Revolutionary Path draws on Buchman's speeches to illustrate the thinking of this original and practical-minded revolutionary.

Listen to the Children

By Annejet Campbell

(1980, 80 pages, Pbk, Grosvenor Books, London, England ISBN 0-901269-40-9)

"There's nothing like reading how other parents have solved their family problems to pick up tips for oneself," SUNDAY TELEGRAPH, London. "Running through the book is the theme that to listen to God in the still small voice of conscience can be the start of a new life together with your children," CATHOLIC ADVOCATE, Melbourne, Australia.

The Forgiveness Factor – Stories of Hope in A World of Conflict

By Michael Henderson

(1996, 290 pages Pbk, Grosvenor Books USA, Salem, OR ISBN 1-85239-024-7)

Winner of the 1996 Silver Award in the prestigious Washington, DC Edpress competition.

Account of Initiatives of Change's work over 50 years and its impact on people and nations around the world. Forewords by Rajmohan Gandhi and Joseph Montville.

Like a Cork out of a Bottle

By Brian Boobyer

(2004, 142 pages, Pbk, Published by John Faber)

Brian Boobyer was one of the outstanding sportsmen of his generation. This collection of short pieces reflects his faith, his love of nature and literature and his passion for sport.

Specials

- Many of these book titles would make an excellent addition to a church, school or university library. If you would like to donate one of these books to a library, include the appropriate mailing instructions with the order and we will ship the book with a note enclosed stating whom the donation is from and to where a contribution receipt should be sent. All books purchased for a library donation will receive a 15% discount.
- Would one of our titles make an ideal choice for your book club? Let us know when you place your order and you will receive a 15% discount on multiple copies.

Mail an order to: Initiatives of Change 2201 W. Broad Street, Suite 200 Richmond, VA 23220	Or order by email: info@us.iofc.org www.us.iofc.org
---	--

ORDER FORM
Title	Number Ordered	Each Price	Total
1.
2.
3.
4.
Subtotal
Subtract 15% for Library and Book Club Discounts
Shipping and Handling: Add $3.50 per order. If ordering more than one book, add $1.00 for each additional book.
Total

Payment: Enclosed is a check for $ _____ (payable to Initiatives of Change USA).

Shipping Information:

Name _____
 Address _____
 City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____